Yeager Airport Media Advisory
737 Makes Emergency Landing at Yeager Airport

A Boeing 737 bound for Washington, D.C. from Nashville, Tennessee made an emergency landing at Yeager Airport this evening at approximately 6:15 p.m.

The Southwest Airlines Flight 2294 suffered a loss of cabin pressure while in route and made an otherwise uneventful landing at Yeager Airport. The plane carried a crew of 5 and had 128 passengers on board.

Emergency medical personnel from the 130th Air National Guard, the Charleston Fire Department, Yeager Airport Police and Charleston Police were on hand to offer assistance after the plan landed.

There were no injuries aboard the aircraft.

For further information contact Mary Lou McInnis with Southwest Airlines. She can be reached at 214-808-4950 or 888-990-8651.